LISTED BY NAME IN ALPHABETICAL ORDER

Acker, Sharon	Guest Star as Odonia TOS 72 The Mark of Gideon
Alexander, David	Director TOS 67 Plato's Stepchildren Director TOS 75 The Way to Eden
Howard Anderson Co.,	Photographic Effects TOS 57 Elaan of Troyius Photographic Effects TOS 59 The Enterprise Incident Photographic Effects TOS 65 For the World is Hollow and I Have Touched the Sky Photographic Effects TOS 69 That Which Survives Photographic Effects TOS 71 Whom Gods Destroy Photographic Effects TOS 75 The Way to Eden

Well, after their terrible start in the first pilot, it seems this company redeemed themselves and produced some very nice ship shots for the third season.

Ansara, Michael	Guest Star as Kang TOS 66 Day of the Dove
-----------------	---

Antonio, Lou	Guest Star as Lokai TOS 70 Let That Be Your Last Battlefield
Armen, Margaret	Writer TOS 58 The Paradise Syndrome Teleplay TOS 74 The Cloud Minders
Aroeste, Jean Lisette	Writer TOS 67 Is There in Truth No Beauty? Writer TOS 78 All Our Yesterdays
Atwater, Barry	Co-starring as Surak TOS 77 The Savage Curtain
Babcock, Barbara	Philana TOS 67 Plato's Stepchildren
Bakey, Ed	Co-starring as the First Fop TOS 78 All Our Yesterdays
Baldavin, Barbara	Communications Officer TOS 79 Turnabout Intruder Baldavin was married to Joe D'Agosta, Casting Director for most of the original series of Star Trek.
Barrett, Majel	Nurse Chapel TOS 57 Elaan of Troyius Nurse Chapel TOS 58 The Paradise Syndrome Nurse Chapel TOS 59 The Enterprise Incident Nurse Chapel TOS 60 And the Children Shall Lead Nurse Chapel TOS 61 Spock's Brain Nurse Chapel Nurse Chapel TOS 64 The Tholian Web Nurse Chapel TOS 65 For the World is Hollow and I Have Touched the Sky Nurse Chapel TOS 67 Plato's Stepchildren Nurse Chapel TOS 68 Wink of an Eye Nurse Chapel TOS 70 Let That Be Your Last Battlefield Nurse Chapel TOS 73 The Lights of Zetar Nurse Chapel TOS 75 The Way to Eden Nurse Chapel TOS 79 Turnabout Intruder

Majel Barrett, also known as Majel Leigh Hudec or M. Leigh Hudec, was married to Gene Roddenberry. See also Lincoln Enterprises.

Barrett, Stan	The Jailor TOS 78 All Our Yesterdays
Batanides, Arthur	D'Amato TOS 69 That Which Survives
Beck, Charles	Guard #2 TOS 57 Elaan of Troyius
Beecher, Bonnie	Also Starring as Sylvia TOS 56 Spectre of the Gun
Belli, Caesar	Steve TOS 60 And the Children Shall Lead Melvin Belli's son.
Belli, Melvin	Gorgan TOS 60 And the Children Shall Lead Gorgan, the Friendly Angel

Melvin Belli was a well-known San Francisco criminal attorney, famous for his involvement with the Zodiac serial killer and as the defense attorney for Jack Ruby who shot Lee Harvey Oswald on live television. Hopefully, he was a better lawyer than an actor. He gets my vote for the WORST acting in the original Star Trek series. I assume this role was a "gift" from Roddenberry for past help. I assume Mr. Belli was given a SAG union card, or other waiver, to perform this role. I very much hope he wasn't PAID anything !

Bergere, Lee	Guest Star as Lincoln TOS 77 The Savage Curtain
Bergmann, Alan	Co-starring as Lal TOS 63 the Empath
Binyon, Claude Jr.	Assistant Director TOS 56 Spectre of the Gun Assistant Director TOS 58 The Paradise Syndrome Assistant Director TOS 60 And the Children Shall Lead Assistant Director TOS 62 Is There in Truth No Beauty? Cronin, Lee Writer TOS 56 Spectre of the Gun
 Writer TOS 61 Spock's Brain
 Story by TOS 68 Wink of an Eye
 Story by TOS 70 Let That Be Your Last Battlefield

Lee Cronin was a pen name for Gene Coon. I still think it is surprising that here is Gene Coon, removed as Producer, and yet still submitting scripts or ideas for scripts to this series. Clearly, he believed in Star Trek a lot more than his replacement.

D'Agosta, Joseph Casting TOS 56 Spectre of the Gun

Joe D'Agosta was married to actress Barbara Baldavin, who appeared on many Star Trek episodes including TOS Shore Leave, TOS Balance of Terror and TOS 79 Turnabout Intruder. She was also a casting director on other made-for-TV movies. See also William J. Kenny.

Daly, James Guest Star as Flint TOS 76 Requiem for Methuselah

James Daly was the father of actress Tyne Daly. He was best known as Paul Lochner in the hospital drama series Medical Center from 1969 to 1976.

Dunn, Michael	Guest Star as Alexander TOS 67 Plato's Stepchildren Dunn gets my vote as one of the greatest actors in the original series, and definitely in the Third Season. In a lack-luster role in a poor episode, he brings real life to his character. If there had been a fourth season, they could have tried "giving him a ride" into another episode.
Durock, Dick	Guard #1 TOS 57 Elaan of Troyius
Dusay, Marj	Guest Star as Kara TOS 61 Spock's Brain

Dusay was better known in various soap operas including "Capitol", "Guiding Light", "Santa Barbara" and "Days of Our Lives".

Golden, Murray	Director TOS 76 Requiem for Methuselah
Gorshin, Frank	Guest Star as Bele TOS 70 Let That Be Your Last Battlefield

Gorshin was, at the time, one of the most popular and successful stand-up comedians and impressionists on television. His impression of Kirk Douglas was classic. This Star Trek role was a real surprise to his comedy fans.

Hale, Richard Gord TOS 58 The Paradise Syndrome

Hartley, Mariette Guest Star as Zarabeth TOS 78 All Our Yesterdays

Haymer, Johnny Constable TOS 78 All Our Yesterdays

Hays, Katherine Guest Star as Gem TOS 63 The Empath

Many people regard her performance in TOS 63 The Empath as some of the best acting in the original series, and definitely in the Third Season, and without speaking a single word. Hays is mostly remembered as Kim Sullivan in the CBS soap opera As the World Turns for over 38 years. She was married briefly to actor Glenn Ford.

Holman, Rex Morgan Earp TOS 56 Spectre of the Gun

Rex had a much more serious role in the feature film Star Trek V : The Final Frontier

Homeier, Skip Guest Star as Sevrin TOS 75 The Way to Eden Dr. Sevrin

Homeier was a child star in the 1940's and 1950's. In an odd coincidence, he won praise as a troubled Nazi child in the stage play and film "Tomorrow, the World" which paralleled his later role in TOS Patterns of Force, also as a Nazi.

Lakso, Edward J. Writer TOS 60 And the Children Shall Lead

Landers, Harry Dr. Coleman TOS 79 Turnabout Intruder

Landers was a veteran actor from many films, such as playing the uncredited role of "GoGo" in The Wild One (1953) with Marlon Brando, a small uncredited role in the Alfred Hitchcock film Rear Window (1954) and multiple roles in Cecil B. DeMille's epic The Ten Commandments (1956).. He was Dr. Ted Hoffman on the television series Ben Casey and was well known from his Taster's Choice coffee commercials in the 1970's. Unfortunately, his role in TOS 79 Turnabout Intruder was filmed just after New Year's Day in 1969 and Harry was in no shape to act. Just listen to the 3rd Season Bloop Record which you can find at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PqkxYIEjK0k>

Leader, Tony Director TOS 65 For the World is Hollow and I Have Touched the Sky

Leighton, Shiela Luma TOS 61 Spock's Brain

Lewis, Shari Writer TOS 73 The Lights of Zetar

Shari Lewis was well known in the 1960's-1980's as a puppeteer, her most famous hand puppet being Lamb Chop. She and her husband, Jeremy Tarcher, were Star Trek fans and submitted this script for the Third Season. They join David Gerrold to be the only fan-based scripts accepted for the Original Series.

Nimoy, Leonard

All Episodes Season 2

After the series ended in 1969, Nimoy won a Primetime Emmy for “Outstanding Continued Performance by an Actor in a Supporting Role in a Series” for the role of Spock.

France Nuyen (Elaan) and Victor Brant (Lt. Watson) from TOS 57 Elaan of Troyius. Victor was also Tongo Rad in TOS 75 The Way to Eden.

Nuyen, France

Guest Star as Elaan TOS 57 Elaan of Troyius

Another strong acting role in the Third Season is France Nuyen (also spelled Nguyen). I see the hand of Roddenberry here, putting in a Vietnamese actress in a leading role in the midst of the Vietnam war. A not so subtle move. Her exotic appearance was perfect for the role. Nuyen was married to actor Robert Culp, best known as Kelly Robinson in the "I Spy" TV series (1965-1968).

Comments on Star Trek – The Original Series (Season Three)

It is truly amazing, despite the huge fan effort, that the third (and final) season of the original series was noticeably lackluster. The “Five Year Mission” was cut to three. Budgets fell even more, and the displacement of Roddenberry in the driver’s seat almost guaranteed sub-par scripts and episodes. The fact that he moved off the set meant that his day-to-day control of script and content was no longer in evidence. From the beginning of the third season, it was clear that, despite the 110,000 fan letters, Star Trek was doomed to cancellation. It died not with a bang but a whimper. There was no wrap party, as in the previous seasons, and everybody involved expressed a sense of depression and failure.

In fact, as the season drew to a close, I will bet you that anyone with $20 million in cash, could have walked into Desilu, then in the midst of troubles of their own including selling out to Paramount, and could have bought the entire series lock, stock and barrel. It has been mentioned elsewhere that the “five-year mission” was the minimum to produce enough episodes for syndication (approximately 130 episodes). It was felt that these 79 episodes, 80 hours of content, were insufficient to support syndication. Syndication was where the money was truly made, as it was simply duplicating and distributing episodes, with virtually no additional production cost. Eighty hours seemed like a losing proposition. How many billions would these 80 hours be worth in the decades that followed?

This third season saw major changes in personnel, most obvious Fred Freiberger as Producer and Douglas S. Cramer as Vice President in Charge of Production, taking much of Roddenberry's power and titles. Perhaps less obvious was the final disconnection with Desilu and the takeover by Paramount. Surely, each of these changes had some effect on this being the last season of the series. And the 10 PM Friday slot, when smaller kids were already in bed and teenagers were out having fun, added a nail or two to the coffin. Other sources put the real crime at the feet of Jerry Lewis. (I kid you not!) Lewis' variety show, with poor ratings, held the Tuesday 8 PM slot. NBC wanted to give that slot to Star Trek, but Lewis' team were relentless until NBC agreed to run Lewis for one more season in this slot. Meanwhile, Monday at 8PM was "Laugh In" a runaway hit and money-maker. And thus, the last possible reprieve for Star Trek was taken away. One can only wonder, what if..... Maybe the "five-year mission" would have been completed !

But how about some good things to say about Season Three? First off, they re-orchestrated and re-recorded the opening theme music. Finally, no more bongo drums! I always took those bongos to mean that Alexander Courage, who preferred to be called A. Courage Bruin, thought that bongos were "modern" and it made the Star Trek theme exotic, sort of like Martin Denny and "Quiet Village". If you are unfamiliar with this hit from the 1950's, have a listen https://video.search.yahoo.com/yhs/search?fr=yhs-pty-pty_converter&hspart=pty&p=quiet+village#id=3&vid=2f09a2362eb003cafc1293ad31a

Some of the best acting can be seen with Michael Dunn (Alexander) in TOS 67 Plato's Stepchildren. He brought real acting skills to a lack-luster role in a clearly "3rd Season" episode. But I can't help but have a list of mistakes in this last season of the original series.

For instance, in the very last scene in TOS 65 For the World is Hollow and I Have Touched the Sky, Nurse Chapel gives Dr. McCoy a shot from a hypospray, and yet there is no "pfffft" sound effect we are used to hearing. Then Kirk tells him they can be back in 390 days, when the ship/asteroid reaches its destination. So I guess in Season 4, McCoy would have been married! We'll never know.

The Vulcan IDIC, worn by Spock in TOS 62 Is There in Truth No Beauty? was, in my opinion, one of the most blatant, crass commercial additions to the series. Majel Barrett, with help from super-fan Bjo Trimble, started a store called Lincoln Enterprises. This was a mail-order store (long before the Internet). Majel obtained a large number of these "IDIC" medals and asked her husband, Gene Roddenberry, to write them into a script to increase their value.

Also note, at the very end of TOS 62 Is There in Truth No Beauty?, Spock puts on his visor to avoid looking at the Medusan Ambassador, even while being transported. But Captain Kirk is standing in the transporter room too, with no visor, as the Ambassador dematerializes. He is shown before and after the Ambassador transports, so there is no doubt he was there without a visor. Oops? Continuity error!

In TOS 77 The Savage Curtain, Kirk says to President Lincoln that the music being heard is "taped music". Too bad this term was used. Sure, that's precisely what it was in 1968. But today, it would not be. Tape has disappeared. More likely, it would be digitally recorded and reproduced. If Kirk had said it was "recorded music" that would have worked then and now, and well into the future. Just a small point.

This place, the end of Season Three, is a good place to put some "big picture" observations of the original series.

For instance, do you realize the influence that Canada had on the original Star Trek? Both William Shatner and James Doohan were Canadian citizens who came to Hollywood looking for work.

Name any major series where the two lead actors, William Shatner and Leonard Nimoy, were both Jewish. I'm sure this was not lost on many of the staff and crew of the show who were also Jewish. The problem I have is the lengths that many of these talented people went to hide their religious affiliation or ethnic history, as if revealing this truth would somehow harm the contents and production values of this landmark series. Nimoy was a lot more open about it. The Vulcan hand salute, "Live Long and Prosper", as most fans know, was taken from a Jewish traditional hand gesture made by a Rabbi during services. (For a great retelling of that story by Leonard Nimoy check out <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=DyiWkWcR86I>). Many think that Roddenberry was Jewish because of his name. But, no, he was Texas-kid and pure Southern Baptist.

Readers are encouraged to buy and read the three volume set "These Are the Voyages" by Mark Cushman. A great review of this set, with some interesting tid bits, can be found here <https://io9.gizmodo.com/the-truth-about-what-went-wrong-with-the-third-season-o-1684057419> . Many of the facts and details in the three parts of this guide, especially on crewmembers, came from this seminal three-part work.
